

DISCLOSURE FOR CONSUMER REPORTS

Sigma Squared Transport Corporation (the "Company") may obtain a consumer report about you for employment purposes, including to evaluate you for employment, reassignment, promotion, or retention. A consumer report is a background report and may include information about your driving record, criminal history, employment history, education or license verification, public records, identity and Social Security number validation, and other lawful background information.

This document is the disclosure. It is not an authorization, release of claims, or waiver of rights. A separate authorization will be presented.
